LEWIS J. LIMAN, United States District Judge:

The parties have submitted a proposed stipulation and order for the production and exchange of confidential information. See Dkt. No. 36. Rule 2(F) of this Court's Individual Practices in Civil Cases provides:

All parties wishing to propose a protective order must, after receiving the Court's permission in accordance with Paragraph 1(B), submit a proposed protective order that conforms as closely as possible with the Court's Model Protective Order, which is available on the Judge's website. The proposed protective order must be accompanied by a cover letter that states whether the parties have adopted, without alteration, the Court's Model Protective Order or whether the parties have made alterations. Any changes must be reflected in a redline that should be filed as an exhibit to the proposed protective order.

The parties' proposed protective order does not comply with this rule. The parties are directed to submit a new application for a protective order within two (2) weeks of this Order.

SO ORDERED.
